Lord Beaconsfield once said of Mr. Gladstone that he was a sophistical rhetorician, inebriated with the exuberence of his own verbosity, etc., etc. It is now Mr. Gladstone's turn to style Lord Beaconsfield a meretricious mercator sublimated with the efflorescence of his own medulla oblongata, who has precipitated an avalanche of contumelious obloquy upon the devoted perierania of his compatriots, and who is now about to be relegated to that Acherontic oblivion which, in the gorgeous imagery of his own Oriental vernacular, fits him like the paper on the wall.—Puck.

M. Guizot, while on a visit to Lord Aberdeen, in Scotland, was talking to him in the park one day about the English system of elections, when his host stopped before a cottage. "This little flouse," he said, "recalls to me a shameful deed in my political life." "What! an act of violence?" "You shall hear. I had as tenant here an independent fellow, who annoyed me horribly. In every election he strenuously opposed me. I made up my mind, to be rid of him." "Ha! you turned him out?" "No. I reduced his rent by a guinea, and destroyed his qualification. They were sitting about the stove at the grothe ancient mariner had just remarked, "The next THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, SAN FRANCISCO, we tackled was a right whale, and it was an ugly one and stove all three of our boats and killed the second mate," when a sad-eyed man in the corner observed: "It seems to me that instead of a right whale you tackled a wrong whale." And then they all rose and walked out in Indian file, and the ancient mariner was so mad that he tried to kick a saw horse and barked his shin in nine places. - Boston Post.
